

Teaching archive skills: a pedagogical journey with impact

Article (Other)

Watson, Karen and Patrick, Kirsty (2020) Teaching archive skills: a pedagogical journey with impact. Archives and Records. pp. 1-17. ISSN 2325-7962

This version is available from Sussex Research Online: <http://sro.sussex.ac.uk/id/eprint/90827/>

This document is made available in accordance with publisher policies and may differ from the published version or from the version of record. If you wish to cite this item you are advised to consult the publisher's version. Please see the URL above for details on accessing the published version.

Copyright and reuse:

Sussex Research Online is a digital repository of the research output of the University.

Copyright and all moral rights to the version of the paper presented here belong to the individual author(s) and/or other copyright owners. To the extent reasonable and practicable, the material made available in SRO has been checked for eligibility before being made available.

Copies of full text items generally can be reproduced, displayed or performed and given to third parties in any format or medium for personal research or study, educational, or not-for-profit purposes without prior permission or charge, provided that the authors, title and full bibliographic details are credited, a hyperlink and/or URL is given for the original metadata page and the content is not changed in any way.

Document identification form

Reference number

Collection

What is it?

Examples: Letter,
report, scrapbook,
photograph, poem,
poster, book

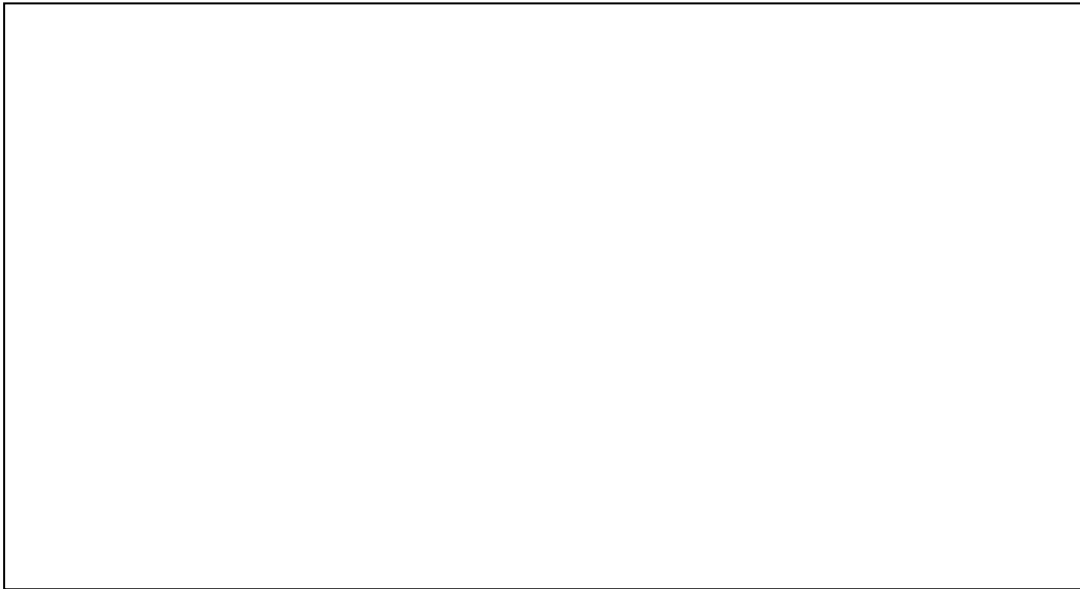

When was it made / written / created?

Is there a date?
Can you tell by the style or format of the piece?

Do you know who made / wrote / created it?

Maybe a person or organisation;
named or anonymous, official or unofficial

What is it telling you? What can you find out from it?

Does it have a value social; cultural, historical?

Why do we have it?

How do you feel about it?
Do you need more information for it to make sense?

Is it intimate, old fashioned, difficult to read? What other questions does it make you ask?